CREATIVE RESTYLING

RPM Proget, a design studio, restyles three different spaces, each with its own unique language - original, elegant and a friendly conversation with the beautiful past.

Reconverting an eating place, giving it a life again and a new and appealing personality or restyling is a recent trend in which many restaurant and bar owners are interested in. They don't dare to renovate completely, preferring more and more the simple and fresh taste of renewing. In fact, every space has potential if you find a specialized team to give shape to the idea you have in mind. RPM Proget is a design studio with a Roman heart but an international vision, specialized in the renovation of restaurant spaces up to the interiors of hotel facilities. The studio also offers restyling solutions, meeting once again flexibly the needs of a constantly evolving market. The studio has been found by three established professionals, Roberto Antobenedetto, Michelangelo and Pepé e Patrizia Pozzi.
