ARCHITECTURAL INNOVATIONS

UNIQUELY BUILT

Iconic in design, with the signature flamboyance and style of the designer, we present seven of the most unique buildings from all over the globe!

Doughnut-shaped skyscraper in Guangzhou, Canton, China

The Doughnut-shaped skyscraper in Guangzhou was completed in 2013. It is located in the Guangzhou Circle, China. It is the Headquarter of Guangdong Hongda Xingye Group and the venue of GDPE Guangdong Plastic Exchange. The building has been designed by the Italian architect Joseph di Pasquale and his professional practice AM project from Milan. The total height is 138 mt for 33 floors, 85.000 square meters of floor area and about 50 million euros of global investment. The inner hole is a unique space that has no equal in the world with its almost fifty meters of diameter (48 mt). The architectural concept is inspired by the strong iconic value of jade discs and numerological tradition of feng shui. In particular, the double disc of jade (bi-disk) is the royal symbol of the ancient Chinese

TIPS ON MAINTAINING YOUR TILES FOR WINTERS

AV Mallikarjun, Assistant Vice President- Sales & Marketing, Aparna Enterprises share some tips on maintaining tiles in winter season.

A warm and cosy home becomes a necessity especially during winters, when most of the time is spent indoors. In India, some parts experience intense winters, and hence it becomes crucial to keep the weather conditions in account, not just while choosing the right building materials for your home but also maintaining them. One of the elements that adds to the comfort inside the house in extreme weather conditions is home flooring. That being said, when it comes to floors, tiles are the most common and trending material to work with. They come in a variety of, colours, shapes and designs. Tiles also possess versatile properties and can be used on different surfaces.
