Greg Natale is a world-wide famous Australian interior designer and founder of the firm Greg Natale Design. He's passionate about colors, patterns and bold applications in order to create a curated and personalized space. He has won multiple awards and has been featured in the most famous magazines. His new project, a 4,000 square-foot penthouse apartment is an absolute interior design treasure in the Australian high-class suburb of Toorak, in Melbourne. On a trip to the city of lights, Greg Natale, the worldwide famous interior designer, found inspiration in the Parisian arches and swaths of maroon. The clients are jewelry designers and they wanted their personality and passion to be presented in the project. Contrasting this, the space for the residence was originally clean and minimalistic, which is the absolute opposite of the owner's style, but the perfect starting point for a creative mind.
