TROPICAL HOME

Joseph residence in Bangalore, India, is an amalgamation of tropical and modern architecture

This 2400 sqft home in South east Bangalore belongs to a family of five and their furry friend. With parameters that go well beyond the physical and contextual realm, this home is a repository of memories and experiences, representing the ethos and cultural background of its occupants.

According to the Ar.Naveen G.J, Founder De Square Architects , the house evolved into an organic extension of the family as it evolved based on hierarchies of functions, requirements, and climate.

CERAMIC COLOR TRENDS 2025

Ceramic Color Trends of 2025 by Tile of Spain

Color plays a fundamental role in interior design, moulding the atmosphere and sparking creativity within a space. However, color palette choices go beyond just aesthetics; color influences the emotions and moods we feel in our homes, making this selection a key decision in any room's design.

In addition to its extensive technical and functional advantages, tile is offered in a wide array of styles. From neutral, organic color schemes to extravagant, vibrant motifs, Spanish manufacturers are creating tiles in a broad spectrum of shades, patterns, textures and formats.
