TILE TRENDS

THE TOP TILE TRENDS FOR 2026

From multi-sensory textures to integrated surface technology, tile is proving it can meet the demands of modern living while pushing the boundaries of design. And for 2026, the trends are bigger, bolder and more tactile than ever

What stands out in 2026 is how tile continues to balance creative expression with real-world performance. These trends don't just look beautiful, they also reflect durability, sustainability, hygiene and technological advancement.

If you're planning projects for the year ahead, these trends offer plenty of inspiration, whether you're designing a serene sanctuary, a bold commercial space or something in between.

COVERINGS 2026

Coverings 2026 delivered global tile and stone industry event with a strong wow factor!

Coverings 2026, the largest international tile and stone event in North America, convened thousands of industry professionals from around the world at the Las Vegas Convention Center in Las Vegas, Nevada, March 30–April 2, reaffirming the annual show's position as the premier marketplace for tile, stone, design innovation and global business exchange.

The four-day event, which spanned the convention center's large North and Central Halls, attracted highly qualified attendees with strong buying power across all industry segments, 77% of whom were directly involved in purchasing or specifying products.

Architects, builders, contractors, designers, distributors, fabricators, installers, retailers and other professionals explored creatively designed, immersive displays showcasing the latest in tile, stone, machinery, tools, technology, and installation products. 750 exhibitors from nearly 40 countries participated in Coverings 2026.

INTERPRETING DESIGN

316,342 visitors (+4.5% compared to 2025): Salone del Mobile.Milano 2026 reaffirms its global prominence and accelerates towards the future

The 2026 edition of the Salone del Mobile.Milano notched up 316,342 visitors from 167 different countries, consolidating its position as a global benchmark for the sector. In a year marked by unstable markets and growing international complexity, the Event has stood the test of the present with an offering combining industrial strength, design quality, cultural content and new business opportunities. The percentage of international trade visitors, which stood at 68% – consistent with 2025 – went beyond mere attendance figures: it confirmed the Salone as a concrete internationalisation, networking and business development lever.

With 1,900 brands from 32 countries, the image projected by the 2026 edition of the event was of a responsive and competitive industrial ecosystem.
