SHADES OF HONEY

Architect Roberto Antobenedetto of RPM Proget has given the Maalot Hotel and Don Pasquale Restaurant an atmosphere that reflects the colors and flavors of Rome.

RPM architecture is a full-fledged architecture and interior firm in the heart of Rome. RPM Proget, the Roman Studio which boasts a consolidated know-how in the design and realization of spaces for the restaurant, hotel and retail sectors, has carried out an important project for a luxurious five-star hotel, the Maalot Hotel, which is now fully operational and has already been present in the hotel panorama in the center of Rome for months, with very flattering returns. The hotel has four floors for a total of about 3,000 square meters in an elegant historic building of the nineteenth century where, between 1828 and 1837, the great composer from Bergamo, Gaetano Donizetti, stayed. Don Pasquale - one of the composer's most successful works - is the name chosen for the gourmet restaurant, which is already one of the hotel's excellent features and a reference point for local restaurants.
