Reggio Calabria's mayor, Giuseppe Falcomatà and Zaha Hadid Architects' director Filippo Innocenti have laid the foundation stone of the new Centre of Mediterranean Culture, marking the start of the project's construction

.Strategically located on the Strait of Messina in southern Italy, Reggio Calabria has been a gateway between the eastern and western Mediterranean for thousands of years. CEVISAMA 2025

Cevisama 2025 closes on a positive note with quality buyers and a cosmopolitan profile

“Professionals really appreciated this year’s ‘Made in Europe’ proposition, and we have opened up new fields related to the contract sector with initiatives such as the ‘Hotel Cevisama’”, claims fair director Carmen Álvarez.

Innovative design formed of modular ceramic tile pieces and system for sightless children to learn bathtime routines won the day in Cevisama’s Emerging Talent event.

With just a few hours to go until the 41st edition of Cevisama closes its doors this afternoon, the feeling amongst all the groups of professionals attending the re-vamped fair at Feria Valencia was very positive. The fair’s director, Carmen Álvarez, was keen to underscore in this regard, “the extremely high quality of buyers choosing to come to Cevisama, they have significant purchasing power and are major specifiers, which means our exhibitors were able not just to create loyalty amongst their customer portfolios but also open their businesses to new markets”.
