A NEW VISAGE

Architect Bipratip Dhar renovated the annexe building of the Dalhousie Institute, by adding various new facilities, at the same time restoring and enhancing its original beauty.

Located in Kolkata, the “Dalhousie Institute” has a great historical background. The foundation stone of the DI - which was then located in Dalhousie Square - was laid on March 4, 1865 by the then Lieutenant Governor of Bengal, the Hon'ble Cecil Beadon.

SUSTAINABILITY MEETS LUXURY

Architects and interior designers Niroop and Rupana Reddy of NA Architects, have given their private residence NA House in Jubilee Hills, Hyderabad, India, a sustainable yet luxurious touch.

Niroop and Rupana Reddy, the architect and interior designer and founder of NA Architects have designed their home called NR house, situated in the sprawling sights of Jubilee Hills, Hyderabad, India.

The interior design project was conceived as a gallery-typed space, which involved not only creating clear open areas but also inviting the light in, particularly from above. NR House became to be the perfect marriage for Boca do Lobo statement furniture.

BAUHAUS - AN OVERVIEW

The Bauhaus, is one of the most remarkable schools of architecture and has recently completed 100 years of constant evolution. We present an overview...

The creation of the Bauhaus school of design was a moment of utter marvel. Iconic in its simplicity, it led a revolution across the design world creating a new language, abstract shapes, and ultra stylish yet highly functional. The style of Bauhaus is commonly characterized as a combination of the Arts and Crafts movement with modernism, as evident in its emphasis on function and, according to the Tate, its “aim to bring art back into contact with everyday life.”
