PROJECT

REACHING HEAVEN

Architect Emanuele Svetti of studio Svetti Architecture has designed the new Graziella Braccialini store in Florence, Italy that offers an incredible shopping experience.

Located between piazza del Duomo and piazza della Signoria, Via dei Calzaiuoli in Florence is one of the most prestigious streets for the Florentine shopping and it's where the new Graziella Braccialini store opened, the maison born from the union between the art of leather goods of the Florentine company Braccialini and the fine goldsmiths of Arezzo Graziella Holding, which wanted to further consolidate its presence in the Tuscan city.

LE ART

Remembering the legendary architect Le Corbusier...

Le Corbusier, the well known Swiss-French architect, designer, painter, urban planner, writer and a pioneer of what is now regarded as modern architecture was born on 6 October 1887 in a small Swiss city, he was widely regarded as the most important architect of the 20th century. He was able to influence some of the world's most powerful figures, leaving an indelible mark on architecture that can be seen in almost any city worldwide. At age 13, he left primary school to attend Arts Décoratifs at La Chaux-de-Fonds, where he learned the art of enameling and engraving watch faces, following in the footsteps of his father.

After designing his first house, in 1907, at age 20, Le Corbusier took trips through central Europe and the Mediterranean, including Italy, Vienna, Munich, and Paris.

ARTISTIC SYMBIOSIS

Boca do Lobo design studio has teamed up with a private client to collaborate on a unique interior design project, an artistic penthouse in New York.

An artful experience in the middle of New York city making a killer first impression was the key inspiration while creating the atmosphere for a luxury home setting. The project is a luxury 1450 square feet contemporary penthouse that reflects the owner's love for collectible design and the client's need to have a functional workspace. Any New York Penthouse is expected to have a statement-making entryway, to welcome guests in the most luxurious fashion. To achieve such an amusing ambiance it is important to choose the right design pieces, patterns, and style.
