MODERN ARCHITECTURE

The 50th anniversary of Jørn Utzon's Sydney Opera House in Cersaie 2023!

A conference will be held on Thursday 28 September at 11:00 am in the Palazzo dei Congressi in Bologna as part of Cersaie's Building, Dwelling, Thinking programme to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Jørn Utzon's Sydney Opera House (1973-2023), one of the most innovative works of modern architecture to make extensive use of ceramic tiles. Ceramic tiles have often been considered no more than a finishing material in construction projects, but a closer look at many great works of contemporary architecture reveals their capacity for experimentation and their ability to lend an original character to the works. One of these is the Sydney Opera House.

ROUTE 40

'Route 40' of Cersaie is the name chosen for forty years of architectural landscapes shaped by ceramics and bathroom furnishings

Cersaie owes its great success to its being the place where creativity takes shape, where innovation and anticipation turn into events and products; a multidisciplinary and multicultural place where surfaces and products for tomorrow's ideal habitat are imagined, designed and presented. On their stands, companies display their products in such a way to create a vision of a holistic design solution, combining outdoor and indoor spaces to create an environment that respects the needs of people and nature, in which specialists illustrate the stylistic features of the different collections and share their know-how on new materials.
